About us as a school

Neural networks

Over the past month, I have been so impressed with how the children have advanced in their learning processes in the acquisition of knowledge and skills. Children who did not have English knowledge and/or had never played a musical instrument or applied curricular concepts (such as multiplication tables, the periodic table etc.), after just a few months they were able to memorise multiple curricular data, acquire greater english language fluency and discover their inner musical talent. It is true, the brain is a dynamic organ that is in constant development; this is especially true for children, as children have twice as many synapses as adolescents or adults. However, the latest data from neuroscience also confirms that the brain is always capable of developing, even in old age (Pagan, 2019). What is presently clear, is that new experiences create new neural circuits. The greater number of stimuli in our environment, the more brain connections will be formed; thus increasing our capabilities (Jauset, 2009). I disagree with some "unschooler" families, who choose to allow the child to "naturally" develop educationally, without guidance. Additionally, studies have not reflected impoverished regions in the world that do not have egalitarian access to education. Perhaps, these children will be very prepared to survive in natural environments, but they may be cognitively malnourished and ill equipped to live in our present world.

I am impressed to read about the myriad of studies that suggest music stimulates and improves results in the areas of language and mathematics (Jauset, 2009) (Rosenkranz, 2007). Musical learning involves many parts of the cerebral cortex, which is why musicians, according to certain researchers, have greater synaptic plasticity than non-musicians (Spychiger, 1994). This same principle can be applied to other disciplines absent from many traditional schools: sports, art, and theater in example. Learning to perform any new activity regardless of age, generates new neuron connections brain function as a whole. It is essential to set new challenges and goals by overcoming oneself day by day, open to learning and new experiences but to ensure successful development in all areas. This ultimately prepares us for life and learning for the present and future.

Women are not equally than men

Let's work to change this
Written by Màxima Monsalve.

In this article i write about the men and the woman differences.

Woman's day

On March 8 every year we celebrate the international women's day. This date was established in 1910 by a group of women who claimed for their rights. This date is celebrated in all the countries except the Islamic countries. This day there is a protest of the liberty of the woman's, the equality of man and women.

House chores

The woman are doing the house chores, there is a 1 men in 20 men that do the house chores. This happens because in a past there went a society, that said the men's went to work and the women stay in home doing the house chores and care the children's. Now is not like this but there are mans that have this teaching when their are childrens, and do the things like this.

In sport

The men's pay is more than the women's, in all the sports. In most sports men are more valued than women.

Radamel Falcao is a male football player, play in the Monaco team his skills are normal, in one week earns 7.8 thousand €

Alexia Putellas is one of the best players in Spain, plays in FC Barcelona female, in one month earns 3 thousand€

If you put in the TV program of football is most probably that appears a match of mens and not women. Some of the cases If there is feminine football on TV but they are placed in non-regular channels and that are neither paid nor private. In the match of the competition Champions League the men leave for different private channels and all of the championship, but the ears, on the other hand, are one as a maxim, or sometimes no, and for public and in a not very usual channel

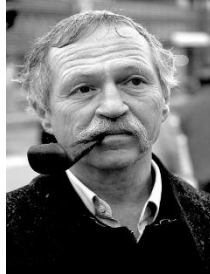

Conclusions

In this article I write about the women are not equally than the men, and we net to change this. In my opinion of this is that with manifestations are not going to solve nothing. In this population all solve with manifestation but is not like this. The unic who can change this is the men, the societies and the government, everybody. I thing in the future the football female is going to be valued, i things this because there are brands to start to pay for the female teams.

A person to admire!

A French activist and anti globalization syndicalist
Written by Amara Forcada

José Bové is a French peasant and a syndicalist of the agricultors and of the anti globalization. I decided to write an article about him because I think world need people like he, he's teaching us to protect the world, the environment and to respect the agricultors, farmers and the peasants.

He became famous because of many things, but I think the most important thing is that in 1987 he founded the CONFEDERATION PAYSANNE (CP), which is the farmers' syndicate. The CP is the result of the meeting of two minority unions, the National Federation of Farmers Unions (FNSP) and the National Confederation of Agricultural Workers Unions (CNSTP).

He participated in the so-called Larzac war; Larzac were going to destroy a part of a field of cultivation and impose a military base. He opposed and was jailed for three WEEKS for invading a military base.

He was jailed so many times. For example in Tahiti for opposing nuclear tests, or for looting McDonald's in Milhu to vindicate Roquefort handmade cheese.

Since 2009 he's been a MEP (Member of the Europe Parliament). His political party is the Green Party. Some of the many aims of this party are: Social justice, environmental responsibility, individual freedom, democracy, diversity, equality, no gender violence and sustainable development.

José Bové is doing so many constructive things to protect the world and the environment. He has been jailed so many times, and I think that's not right for me, and some people think that he's a bad person, they are jailing him because of his job! I think we need more people like he.

What about you, what do you think about José Bové?

What have we been up to this month?

The interesting web: WIKIPEDIA

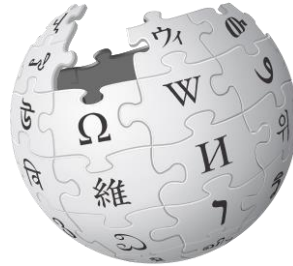

By Paris Sánchez Ramentol

What is Wikipedia?

Wikipedia is a kind of dictionary where are all the things you want to know.

Why exist Wikipedia?

The Wikipedia It is useful when you have doubts about a topic that interests you and you do not know anything about the fear.

What's the Wikipedia history?

The creators of the Wikipedia are: Jimmy Wales Larry Sanges. This happened in the year and month, 2001 of 5 of January.

Which problems happened with the Wikipedia?

One of the problems of Wikipedia is with the offensive images and the inappropriate words too.

The wikipedia sometimes says things for example, the robots are going to kill the normal persons and dominate the world. The Wikipedia have themes that has negative things that no one would like, to see or hear like for example some stories that are scary and that says that there are children with totally black pupils and that they appear if you see an authentic image of them, and then they always look at your window.

What are the advantages of Wikipedia?

The advantages of wikipedia are that you can have a job that can be very difficult for you then you can go to wikipedia or internet although I recommend that it be wikipedia unless it is for something else then when you are in wikipedia you have to search in the subject that you have run aground and I will put everything on that subject or at least offensive topics you will have blocked from your parents.

What it's my opinion of Wikipedia?

For me the wikipedia page I love because it is very useful to do homework, work that you do not have much time to do them, also for when you are very very very bored can you can search in wikipedia some nonsense etc.

Egypt disadvantages

Why Egypt is now so bad and the explanation.

Written by Ali Mohamed

In the past Egypt was one of the best countries, But unfortunately Egypt is now in a very huge danger, Am writing that because I really want Egypt to get better when I grow up, Kidnapping is growing in Egypt,

Some of them are doctors they kidnap kids, then steal their organs and then leave them back, maybe someone bribe these people to steal the kids organs for themselves or for their kids.

This is a man threatening people that he will kill the boy.

Now I will talk about the rubbish, Egypt is the one of the most dirty countries in the world, All of citizens throw trash on the floor, and some throw their trash in Nile, Unfortunately ,cancer is growing in Egypt from this rubbish.

This is two kids living in this here, and they do not think that it's bad. And It's time to talk about the bribery in Egypt, Bribery is a way of life, in Egypt If you need to make something important about the police things or the rules, you have to bribe this person who is doing it for you or you cannot do it.

Bribing is common in Egypt.

Lastly, I'm going to tell you that Egypt is now corrupted by vicious people, ministers, presidents and the government, I really didn't want Egypt to be in this condition but that happens when people don't have knowledge or good education.

Dilema Education

Should we separate children from their disabilities?

Written by Sara Bellmunt Gras

What is it meant by Special Education? Special Education well is for children who need special attention because they are deaf, blind, autisms, not growing good... Children like this can attend special schools, but there are some kids with these problems that go to a school, with mostly children that don't have disabilities. Where should they go ?

Escola Arboç, is a school only for children with special needs. They only have 50 children and they have around 4-5 children per class. They work differently than a school that has children with no special needs, for example they have a vegetable garden but inside the school not in the ground, they have a lot of attention inside the school they have speech therapist, physiotherapist, a psychologist... amongst other specialist.

However should we separate children that have disabilities, because they low the level of children that don't have any disabilities.

We should not separate this children, because if the child goes to a school with all of them with disabilities the child would also behave bad.

But if you do separate them, then you are going to make them feel left out and unwanted. Sure they might not behave well in class but if they have a tutor or and assistance they can participate properly. Children, when they are surrounded with other children that have disabilities copy the behaviour, so the children with special needs should be putten away.

"I have taught in both settings. I can see both sides of the argument. In a typical school setting it is great for the students with disabilities to see appropriate social interactions and make typical peer friends. It also benefits non-disabled students to better understand students with disabilities." This is what a special educator teacher named Megge said .

Opinion

I don't know what to think, but it is probably better be together.

Early Years Classroom

By Jenni Aitkin

Spring is here! Tuesday 21st March marked the first official day of Spring and we celebrated by going on a 'Spring Hunt'. We have been learning the song, 'Springtime' which helps us to learn the names for different animals and insects that we see in Spring, such as butterflies, bees and frogs. We have been looking for other signs of Spring, such as flowers and birds.

We have become aware of our senses again by feeling the warm sun, looking at and smelling the flowers and listening to the birds chirping. We are very excited about the eggs that are in the incubator and we look forward to their hatching soon.

We would like to show you our checklists that we made while we were 'out and about' and maybe you can have a go at 'looking for Spring' too!

Josep Pàmies

A farmer that' dents to change la world

By Salma Wright

I have chosen this man, because as you know, I like plants very much. He talks about healing plants and much about plants. Josep Pàmies Breu was born in 1948 in Balaguer, Catalonia. He is a farmer known for his defence of natural remedies.

In 1999 he created a limited society: Pàmies Hortícoles From there he and his family sell their healing products.

In 2013 he wrote a book, "Dolça Revolució", In which he explains his life and his ideas, one of his ideas is that in the future he can change the world just with a simple plant. He helps a lot of people that have different diseases, with positive results. He cures everything with plants not medicine.

He defines every single plant very carefully, and also the diseases that it cures. The Generality of Catalonia wants to put Pàmies to the prison, it is because he is healing lots of people with lots of different plants, so people don't buy medicines. The farmacies don't make money they pay to the politics so they can go after people like Pàmies.

I saw lots of different videos of him and he explains everything with coherence. He really wants to change the world in a cordial acceptable way.

Launchpad

By Eric Olea

About music(electronic)

What is a launchpad?

A launchpad is a kind of instrument that works with an computer so that means that is an electrical instrument.

How does it work?

It works with an app that you can install on your computer, it's not very easy to use but you can learn how to used.

Why is it used for?

Mainly it is used to make music or make a base for a song.

A launchpad is a midi device which is primarily used to launch clips in Ableton Live (FL studio as well). It can also be used as a midi controller in other softwares such as Traktor Pro, as a Keyboard, as a Drum machine, etc.

Advantages of a launchpad

Launchpad is fun to play and it helps your coordination

What does it look like?

Normally you can program it so it makes colors when you click a button from it and that makes it funner.

What is the company of these instrument?

The company of these instrument is novation like it said on the launchpad there is different types of launchpad like launchpad pro that is the one of the photo.

What can it do?

It's like all the instruments in one it has 64 buttons and you can put different sounds on everyone but you can make it to 512 buttons with pages

There are 8 buttons (there are no the right side of the launch pad), or pages so one of those are different 64 buttons so $64 \times 8 = 512$, it's like a book you put 64 sounds in one page

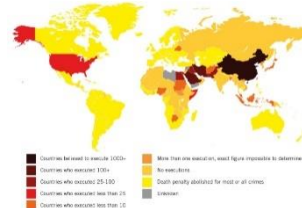

Why I Think the Death Penalty Should Be Banned

Returning violence for violence just multiplies the violence, doesn't it?

Written by Judit Bellmunt Gras

The death penalty, also called Capital Punishment, is one of the legal process in which a person is punished and put to death for a crime. It is legally carried out in about 92 countries.

The diagram on the left shows how many people were killed in 2017 and in which country.

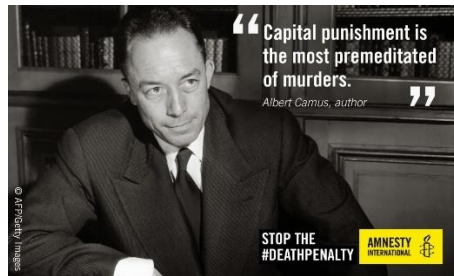

One of the most common mistaken ideas people have about the death penalty, is that it saves money. As executed criminals don't have to be cared for in prison, with the state's money. The thing is, that's not exactly true. You can't execute a person before there has been a investigation, a trial and lots of papers signed. Studies conclude that the tramits to death penalty and the death penalty methods themselves are far more expensive than an alternative system. In fact, the death penalty is far more expensive than prison. Would you really choose money over a person's life?

In total 150 people have been tested with the DNA wrongly. The results in the DNA test proved their guilt. Then, just a few days before being executed, these people were discovered innocent. This shows us that the DNA test isn't very reliable and dependable. What if those people were executed before being found out innocent? It wouldn't have been the first time that happened. Over the last few years there has been a total of 164 people killed and then found innocent. A study concludes that 4.1% of the people sentenced to death in America are innocent. It's dreadful to think about the suffering they made an innocent person suffer. What about the family? How would they feel? What would a sorry change?

What I think is that the system typically offers punishment instead of help. So, if someone murders someone we should kill him? Should we also teach kids to hit back the kid who slapped him? To shout back at the teacher, when the teacher shouts at him? Should we ought for revenge always. Or should we teach everyone to be nice, honest and kind?

We've all listened more than once, Mahatma Gandhi's famous quote; "An eye for an eye makes the whole world blind." No national interest can justify human rights violations such as the death penalty. In my opinion killing is just wrong. As Holly Near says, "Why do we kill people who kill people to show killing people is wrong?" Just ask yourself. Why?

Quote by Albert Camus, a French writer and philosopher.

Some of our Children's Work

This month students in primary have been working hard on understanding the weather patterns as part of their topic and science learning. Focusing on the different types of clouds, wind directions and temperatures, students have been practicing developing mock weather reports for the region of Catalonia in a similar style to the weather section of a news program. It has been great seeing students work hard on developing their understanding of subject specific language while working on this topic. Each and every one in primary has worked hard and we believe the results really demonstrate this. Primary, you have two very proud teachers. Keep up the hard work in all areas of your work.
